A couple of days before Christmas, I went to see the NHL's Nashville Predators play on their home ice against the defending Stanley Cup champion Colorado Avalanche.

If I had cared to that evening, I could have gone onto the sports betting app on my smartphone and placed a wager on the game.

As I write this, if I look at the front page of ESPN.

It's front and center, right next to the kickoff time and the TV network where it's airing.

The game was essentially over.

Utah ended up scoring on third down with 25 seconds remaining.

The danger and the ceiling

Nevertheless, fakes exist.

Fine, but three caveats exist if you are set on buying something from the black market.

There are also better options: wait and save for the real deal, buy a second-hand one [repurposed and rental are all the rage now; even Burberry are getting in on the act] or use your initiative and buy something less expensive.

If you've got class, it will shine through regardless.

The colour will be complementary to the leather, and largely subdued.

Again, all should be neat, even, and clean and with no loose threads.

This is probably an area in which having authentic variants to compare with fake Burberry bags will be useful.

Some better fakes have started to incorporate the same symbol behind the Burberry pattern, but without it — and especially on large bags that really push the popular Burberry patterns, you should double check the undertone and the lines for
