Baccarat Crystal

Baccarat enchants clients who buy luxury glassware not because it is a status symbol but because they truly appreciate the sophistication and savoir-faire behind its quality and heritage.

The city of Baccarat gave its name to the crystal that has been manufactured there since 1764.

The manufacturing technique was created by Aimé-Gabriel Artigues.

This marvelous crystal has conquered over time the major European and world courts, having its affirmation with the French court of Louis XVIII.

Over the years it has become the indispensable reference point in the art of tableware.

Present in many museums of the world, Baccarat crystals are absolutely contemporary with the most successful designs.

Then we have added big names like André Putman, Marcel Wanders and in particular the acclaimed Parisian architect and designer Philippe Starck.
