Our losses can be represented by 110 times the percentage of bets we lose. Now we can plug in numbers from ANY line that Vegas sets and solve to find x. When you win a bet, you still win $100, but you now lose $130 when you make an incorrect pick.

His winnings will be $240 on each win. The team you think will win is more valuable in an even money bet, obviously. This leaves us with only one unknown variable: L.

Remember that L stands for the amount we would lose with an incorrect bet. Remember, for an underdog W is the line.

Will your book sell? That depends on how good it is and how well you market it.

If you are able to build some momentum of sales and positive reviews, Amazon will

I start suggesting your book to people. However, it's up to you to build the t initial momentum.
