Locking in the best NFL betting odds is the key to maximizing your potential profits sports betting.

The Eagles opened as favorites and remain that way as public money starts flowing in, but the latest Super Bowl odds suggest this should be a close matchup.

In other words, it allows you to see which side of the line is attracting the biggest bets and largest share of total money wagered.

This is the amount you'll need to risk in order to return a $100 profit backing the favorite.

The amount of points given from the favorite and taken by the underdog is the spread.
